

Parkinson's Centre (ParkC) Donation Form

ParkC's vision is to better understand Parkinson's so that we can significantly improve the life of those with Parkinson's, and their careers, through research and education in the search for a cure

The Parkinson's Centre (ParkC) is a research centre based in Western Australia at Edith Cowan University's Joondalup Campus. ParkC is founded on collaborative partnerships between the Cambridge Parkinson's Disease Research Clinic, University of Western Australia, Curtin University of Technology, and the Parkinson's Association of Western Australia.
